

Town's Industrial War Possibilities Studied By Ottawa

Visit To Ottawa By Industrial Committee Clears Way For Newmarket Paint Industry

Results of a visit to Ottawa by members of the town council's industrial committee were described to the council on Monday evening.

"I am convinced that the future of Newmarket industrially is best tied up with the development of several small industries," commented Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale after telling of his visit to Ottawa. "We did think a couple of years ago that we wanted a big industry like Research Enterprises, but a big industry would upset Newmarket in housing, labor conditions and every other way."

A representative of the dominion department of munitions and supply visited Newmarket on Monday afternoon as a result of the Ottawa visit, and looked over the town's smaller industries and a number of machine shops with a view to possible war work. Councillor J. L. Spillette and Reeve F. A. Lundy took him around.

"He couldn't see anything but cushions, tarpaulins and helmets which Quinlan's could make," said Mr. Spillette. "Bender has a good chance to get some war work. The inspector wasn't greatly impressed with the possibilities of the machine-shops. It was apparent that the most likely plan would be for Newmarket and Aurora to pool their machinery."

ine-shop facilities to handle sub-contracts from Toronto firms." Mr. Vale told how due to technicalities Continental Paint Co. had been unable "to get materials to make paint and to submit samples to get orders and so get priorities for materials," although paint was in demand, and larger plants were working to capacity.

Mr. Vale said that they had been able to break this "vicious circle," so that Continental Paint could get started.

Mr. Lundy told the council that in making their inspection of the town's facilities they found that Stark's foundry was making a small part as a sub-contract for a Toronto firm.

"I am sorry it wasn't possible for me to go to Ottawa with the committee," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales. "I want to commend the committee for the promptness with which it acted. They brought the needs of these local industries to the attention of the local member. The member should be thanked for getting the committee the interviews they needed."

"I think the member, the post-master-general, should be thanked for his help," said Councillor Frank Bowser.

It was later agreed that this should be done as soon as the problems involved were cleared up.

NEW RECTOR IS INDUCTED AT ST. PAUL'S

BISHOP BEVERLEY LEADS REV. G. H. JOHNSON INTO PULPIT

KEYS ARE GIVEN

St. Paul's Anglican church was filled to the doors on the occasion of the induction of Rev. G. H. Johnson, M.A., B.D., into the incumbency of St. Paul's church and parish by the Right Reverend A. R. Beverley, suffragan bishop of the diocese, yesterday evening.

It was unique in that both Mr. Johnson's father and brother, clergymen in this diocese, took part in the service. Rev. Geo. Johnson of East Toronto, the father, took the prayers, and Rev. C. W. Johnson of St. George's church, Gore's Landing, the brother, served as chaplain to the bishop. A goodly number of the clergy of the deanery also were present.

The choir and the visiting clergy took their places in the chancel to the singing of the grand old hymn, "All people that on earth do dwell," while the rector, Rev. G. H. Johnson, sat with the two church wardens in the body of the church.

The first part of the service is called the "institution." The bishop, sitting in his chair at the top of the chancel steps, called Mr. Johnson to him and presented him with the archbishop's letters of institution or license, to conduct the services of the church, after which he presented him with the Bible and the Book of Common Prayer.

The second part of the service was the induction, when the bishop pronounced him duly inducted into the incumbency of the parish. Then he was presented the keys of the church by the wardens, J. O. Little and J. E. Nesbitt, who by that act and word acknowledged him to be lawful incumbent of the parish.

After the singing of the hymn, "We love the place, O God," Mr. Johnson was conducted by the bishop and the two wardens first to the font, then to the reading-desk, where the prayers are said, to the lectern, where the lessons are read, then to the altar, where holy communion is celebrated. At each place appropriate admonitions on the office of each were given by the bishop—the incumbent answering to each: "I will so do, the Lord being my helper."

It was a particularly solemn and impressive ceremony, and the address by Dr. F. H. Cosgrave, provost and chancellor of Trinity College, Toronto, based on the 20th chapter of Acts 1, verses 17 to the end, was a fitting climax to an unusual and inspiring service.

Before the recessional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," the rector invited those present to a reception in the parish hall, and all, with few exceptions, accepted the invitation, and were presented to Bishop Beverley, the members of Mr. Johnson's family and the visiting clergy.

The ladies of the church had prepared for even more than the 200 who gathered in the hall after the service, the tables looking particularly inviting with the silver candelabra and their tall lighted candles, shining silver tea and coffee urns, with an assortment of fancy sandwiches piled high on silver platters, and an attractive array of condiments tastefully arranged on crystal servers, plates of cut cake and tarts, and small fancy cookies. Roses in silver vases added to the attractiveness of the tables.

The Young Women's and Young Men's Bible classes served the guests after appropriate and timely speeches by Bishop Beverley and Church Warden Little. It was particularly pleasing to see the other members of the ministerial association present at the service, and also to see uniformed men in the service among the guests, while Capt. H. C. Cox, chaplain and padre of the Newmarket military camp, was with the clergy in the chancel for the induction service.

The beautiful flowers on the altar, deep pink chrysanthemums, were placed there by George Thompson, in memory of his wife, Verna, it being the anniversary of her passing.

Era Is 90 Years Old

"In 1852 Newmarket's population numbered only about 500 souls," wrote Erastus Jackson 40 years ago this issue as The Era marked its 50th birthday.

Today The Era marks its 90th birthday.

"Half a century ago this week under the editorial management of Mr. G. S. Porter, as printer and publisher, the first number of the Newmarket Era, then the New Era, made its appearance," wrote the editor emeritus of 1902, for his son, Lyman Jackson, had taken over the helm in 1883.

"In the following year Mr. Porter decided to remove to Australia and offered the plant for sale, when it was purchased by Messrs. Jackson and Henderson, who took possession June 20, 1853, reaching Newmarket over the old Ontario, Simcoe & Huron railway on the first day that a timetable was issued for regular train service on the line between Toronto and Bradford bridge.

"In the summer of 1854 Mr. Henderson retired, and from that time until 1883 when the present publisher succeeded his father, the writer was sole editor and publisher.

"During the first few years of The Era's history our grammar and public schools had not been long enough established to exercise the potent influence in developing newspaper readers which now obtains—and hence the first ten years witnessed many a hard struggle to make both ends meet."

Camp Fighters Do Better Every Time, Watch Them

MARKHAM TAKES HOME ANOTHER WELL-EARNED VICTORY

Markham intermediates out-skated, out-classed and out-played Newmarket military camp on Tuesday evening and earned a 7-1 victory.

Led by the Lawrie brothers of Junior C fame, Markham slammed home two goals in each of the first and second periods and three in the third, while the camp scored once in the third.

The Markham boys won the game because of their smartly executed plays, which kept the fans on their toes throughout.

The soldier boys couldn't un-track themselves until the third period, when Morrison scooped in a loose puck. Newmarket's own "Sonny" Townsley and Novac, of the camp, had many chances to score in the third period but they could not beat Harper, who was superb in the Markham nets.

Fred Scott, Brown and Bob Lawrie were the stars from a Markham standpoint. For the camp Vitale, Morrison and Townsley carried the load.

The soldiers deserve credit for fighting an uphill battle. They did not let up until the final bell.

Camp: goal, Boissoneau; defence, Vitale, Gibbs; centre, Morrison; wings, Suckling and Murray; alternates, Townsley, Novac, Cooper, Wilson, Yates and Miskil.

Markham: goal, Harper; defence, G. Scotland, F. Scott; centre, Junkin; wings, Bob Lawrie, Baker; alternates, E. Lawrie, Brown, Parkington, Harper and McHarg.

FIRST NEWMARKET LION OVERSEAS WRITES LIONS HIS IMPRESSIONS OF ENGLAND AT WAR

The following interesting letter to his fellow Lions was received recently by W. M. Cockburn, Newmarket Lions club president, from Capt. Dr. George Cock, member of the Newmarket club, who arrived in England in November in the fifth Canadian division. The letter, written on Nov. 27, was read to the Lions at a recent meeting by Mr. Cockburn.

Dear Fellow Lions: As the first member of Newmarket Lions club overseas, I must send you a word of greeting, although this will probably be late for Xmas.

I am in bed with a touch of flu, with a 15-watt lamp, bell, or it not, burning beside me with a dazling glare. The position makes writing a letter a difficult proceeding, but I would like to get a note off in fairly reasonable time.

You veterans of the last war will recognize a great many scenes I want to describe, but perhaps you are not familiar with the black-out—a remarkable institution, that makes me homesick every night.

On shipboard it was complete and neighboring ships in the convey just appeared as gray shadows. In England it's not absolutely complete. Cars have some dim light—probably a five-watt lamp—although many of them don't turn on any lights at all. Pedestrians carry flashlights but only turn them on for a second at a time at intervals. All windows are regularly darkened. It is

ELEPHANTS NET $600 FOR BRITISH CHILDREN

Net proceeds of about $600 for British child war victims were realized from the Lions' white elephant sale Friday and Wednesday nights, it was stated by Treasurer Frank Courtney today. President W. M. Cockburn was delighted with the results.

Three gifts, considered too valuable to be put on the auction block, were won as follows: jewel case, made and given by Ross Hugo, won by Charles Rusto; W. J. Hopkinson painting, won by Wm. Lawson, Queen St.; Robert Chadwick painting, won by W. L. Long, 67 Warren St., Toronto.

Fred Thompson, general chairman, and T. F. Doyle were in charge of arrangements for the sale. President "Moff" Cockburn took personal charge of a high-powered publicity campaign which bore substantial fruit.

"Never have so many bought so much for so little," was the way one of the Lions described the bargains which the buying public picked up. The persons who gave the goods turned up and had a good share in buying them.

Councillors Will Receive Payment For Their Services

Council Divides 5-3 On Question, But All Agreed That Council Duties Are Burdensome At Times

A by-law providing for the payment of $300 a year to the mayor and $5 a meeting, but not more than $125 a year, to other members of the town council was passed at a council meeting on Monday evening. N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor, expressed the opinion that payment of the councillors was sound and long overdue.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, Councillors Wm. Dixon, A. V. Higginson, J. L. Spillette and A. D. Evans favored the by-law. Reeve F. A. Lundy, Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale and Councillor Frank Bowser opposed it. Mr. Bowser said that he did not expect to be paid when he accepted office and that he would give every cent he got to war charity.

Dr. Dales said that he would invest anything he was paid in Victory bonds. Reeve F. A. Lundy said that he had been putting his county council slip end into war services, and he said subsequently to The Era that he would do the same with what he received from Newmarket. Councillor Arleigh Armstrong was absent.

"For a long time I have been convinced that the town has grown to such an extent that it is unreasonable to ask councillors to serve without remuneration," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales (Page 8, Col. 5).

TELLS HOW ALL MAY MAKE CONTRIBUTION

"Each loyal citizen may keep himself prepared to render a contribution to national health by study and by doing the job he is best fitted for to the best of his ability," Mrs. R. J. Rogers, R.N., said at the war emergencies course in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

Dr. G. W. E. Macpherson of Mount Albert gave a lecture on hemorrhage.

"I attempt to help with the teaching of these classes of 'Emergencies in War' not because I believe I can do it better than anyone else," said Mrs. Rogers.

"There are a number of you in this audience who are better qualified to teach than I am. However, I realize the importance of this particular kind of knowledge, especially at this time. It happens to be the line of war work for which I have had special training. Therefore I accept it as one of my war-time duties, and will do it to the best of my ability."

"I hope that when this course is over each one of you will have derived a certain amount of practical and useful knowledge that will be helpful in everyday life in promoting health and preventing sickness, as well as in aiding you to meet an emergency and render first-aid with a confidence that you are doing the right thing at the right time."

"I feel that a little knowledge, well learned, should be of great value to every citizen in aiding with self-discipline to meet an emergency."

"Each class has been a unit in itself, yet they all fit together like a jigsaw puzzle. When each little part is fitted into place you get a complete picture. That is why it is important to attend these classes regularly."

"When this course is finished you will have gained a measure of success and satisfaction according to your efforts."

MUNICIPAL MILESTONE

Members of a town council do a great deal of work of which the world wots not. Some do more than others. The mayor is called upon most heavily. Chairmen of committees, acting as supervisors of their department work, also bear a heavy load. In Newmarket the most burdensome committees in recent years have been water and light, and roads and bridges. Some of the work must be done in the day-time, although most of it can be done in the evening. Some of the members of the town council are working in factories and there are occasional calls upon their time which mean a loss of wages to them. This personal sacrifice is not so obvious in the case of members of the council who are merchants or professional men but the sacrifice is just as real. Their time too is worth money.

There is therefore much to be said for paying members of the town council. It is true that other citizens are giving their time and ability to the public service, but we think it safe to say that few do so to the same extent as members of the town council and few have the same large responsibility, with such an opportunity to act for the weal or woe of the community. While it is true, as said at the council meeting on Monday evening, that it is not human nature for people to vote to pay for something that they can get for nothing, it is fairly safe to say that the public generally will be sympathetic with the idea of paying the council members a small stipend.

May we emphasize, so far as we are concerned, that payment of the council should be justified as a measure of justice and appreciation of good services generously rendered, and should not be expected to attract a "better class of citizen" to public office. In our opinion, the best public servant is the one who has been ready to serve without remuneration. In our opinion, the type of council member that Newmarket has had in the past, and has in the present, will never be improved upon as a result of financial remuneration. It is possible that payment will enable some to serve who felt that they couldn't serve before, but it may also sometimes attract to public office men whose primary interest is their own welfare and not the welfare of the community. There may be more "politicians" attracted to the council board in the future than there have been in the past.

We are sure that council members deserve to be paid. Although we are not sure that it will prove a good thing for the town, we have no conviction to the contrary, and we are quite prepared to see payment of the council work out to the great good of the town. Probably Newmarket citizens have been spoiled by exceptionally fine and able service on the part of those who have served the town as councillors.

On two scores only, from the critical point of view, have we any convictions. The first is that no public body should take any action to benefit its members financially without giving the public a chance to express its opinion. Our thought would have been to make the new by-law effective Jan. 1, 1943, not Jan. 1, 1942. When Newmarket councillors have been unpaid so long there is no need for haste in paying them. There is no need for retroactive remuneration. And particularly it does not fit in with the war-time spirit of, and demand for, sacrifice on the part of everyone to the limit of everyone's ability.

The other point is one of municipal procedure. Whether the by-law was to be effective Jan. 1, 1942, or Jan. 1, 1943, it should not have gone through the council with such haste. There was no formal notice given at the previous council meeting of intention to introduce such a by-law. And then three readings were given to the by-law in a single evening. It has become so customary to move suspension of the rule requiring that the second and third readings of a by-law shall not be given the same night as the first reading that the purpose of the rule is forgotten. The purpose of the rule is to cause deliberation and thought, to insure against hasty measures, and to give the public time to learn what is intended and give any advice it may wish to give before the legislating body takes final action. Such a by-law should have received its first reading at one meeting, and its second and third readings at another meeting, with two weeks of public discussion in between.

Some of the councillors justified their support of the by-law on the ground that they had spoken similarly at the nomination meeting, but they overlooked the fact that whatever they said at the nomination meeting they said, not before the nominations, but after the nominations were closed, after the public had honored them by not nominating opposing candidates, and when it was impossible for the public to nominate any other candidates.

We couldn't go to press conscientiously without saying these things. We know that they will not please some of the councillors, but one of the councillors who supported the by-law said some time ago, "If we weren't criticized we wouldn't do as good work," and we believe that that represents the viewpoint of all our town councillors. They are a fine group of public servants, and they deserve to be paid, but they might have taken the public just a little bit more into their confidence in making a change of this sort.

The more Mr. Hepburn rants the more people will be inclined to think that Mr. King may be right.

ADVICE

The Ontario government, through Mr. Dewan and Mr. Reek, minister and deputy minister of the department of agriculture, are giving sound advice to farmers when they bid them take heed for the coming crop year, to look to their machinery now, and place orders now for needed parts. In normal times many farmers did not discover that a part was needed for the binder until it was time to cut the grain. The result was merely the loss of half a day for a trip to town, though sometimes the farmer had to wait while the part was ordered from the factory. This coming year farmers will have probably even less help than last year, and they cannot afford to lose even half a day. More than that, the parts may not be available. Wise farmers will take Mr. Dewan's advice and place their orders now, to give manufacturers a chance to put 1942's agricultural equipment in A1 order.

In going over their machinery farmers will find a good deal of discarded equipment which could be salvaged. Even though the equipment or materials may not have much value, farmers can do a patriotic service either by selling it themselves or by disposing of it through a local salvage committee. What happens to the proceeds is not so important as what happens to the materials.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. ILSLEY

You have shown yourself a man of vision. You have embarked upon new schemes of economic control that may lead Canada into an era of social and economic justice. You have bent your back to the task of winning this war, the task of recovering the dollars which your colleagues are spending, so that they may spend them again. Now you are launching a new Victory Loan and we know that it will be a tremendous success. What you have done before you can do again.

Knowing that you have taken a personal interest in the advertising messages for the coming campaign, and knowing that you have even in some instances suggested changes in the advertising prepared by professional advertising men, we call your attention to a cartoon recently sent out, presumably by the Department of Public Information, to Canadian newspapers as promotion for the war loan. Two Nazis on the deck of their U-boat look at a map of eastern Canada. The cartoonist has given them wolfish, brutish, animal faces, and has written below: "Help keep the Hun from our shores! Subscribe to Canada's second Victory Loan."

The purpose of the picture is no doubt to stir up hatred and loathing for those who at this moment in history are unfortunate enough to owe allegiance to Germany. That sort of thing may win the war, but it might also "lose the peace." If that sort of stupid propaganda finds its way to Germany, it will but stiffen the resistance of those whom we should be trying to win to an alliance against Hitler. Here in Canada it can but create international hatred which will prove the stumbling-block of the post-war statesmen who try to mend the world's wounds. We can thank God that probably few Canadian editors will let such a cartoon into their columns, but we can be sorry for the waste of public money.

The question sometimes comes into our mind—how many of those who advocate compulsory military service today are opposed to "prohibition" because it interferes with personal liberty. It would also be amusing to know how many prohibitionists are opposed to conscription on the ground that it interferes with personal liberty.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

STEALING THEIR CLOTHES?

(Fergus News-Record)

We have wandered a long way from the original subject. There are those who say that this is "just one more of Mackenzie King's tricks to stay in power." That is a typically Conservative viewpoint.

There might be something to it. Certainly the announcement of a plebiscite has placed the Conservatives in an awkward situation. In effect, Mr. King says, "I see the need for selective service and I will gladly bring in a bill to put it in force, if the electors will release me from my promise." Not only that, apparently, but the Liberals are going around asking Canadians to vote for conscription, including the French-Canadians in Quebec, where the followers of Arthur Meighen would hardly dare to make such an appeal. Then when the vote comes around, all Liberals will feel obliged to vote for conscription (we suppose), but what can the Conservatives do? After the fuss they have stirred up recently, they can hardly vote against conscription on a referendum, and they won't want to vote for it to help Mr. King out of a hole. And no one can blame them.

It's really no wonder that some of them are pretty mad about it. As one man puts it, Mr. King has stolen their clothes again. Perhaps it is just an astute political move.

PLEBISCITES

"Are you in favor of releasing the government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

This is the response of Prime Minister King to the demand for an all-out war effort. The people asked for action. He gives them a plebiscite. Little wonder that the premier of Manitoba characterized this act as "the crowning indignity," or that Premier Hepburn should describe it as distinctly and cowardly. If there is an affirmative answer, as will no doubt be the case, what follows? There is no promise that selective compulsory service will be enforced. Premier Godbout of Quebec, on Monday night described conscription as a crime, and stated that Premier King would not have it. Quebec desires determine government policy. In taking a plebiscite Mr. King is resorting to an old device employed by some of his Liberal predecessors to appease impatient followers who were demanding action on a controversial question.

SLATY AND HANDSOME EXCHANGE VIEWS

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"What did I tell you the other day?" Slaty, the Junco, told Handsome, the Blue Jay, rather sadly one snowy morning. "We were arguing about whether the snow would come, and we have lots of it again now. Do you wish now that you had gone south? I must say, it's not so easy to find a good nourishing meal as it was last week."

"Oh, this isn't bad," Handsome answered loftily. "It's not cold, so I'm not worrying. You were right, though, about the snow coming back. I have to admit that."

"This is Snow Bunting weather," said Slaty. "Have you seen any of them today?"

"No, but I haven't been travelling around very much since the snow started falling," the Blue Jay answered. "I saw two Evening Grosbeaks over on the west side of the town this morning. They said that most of their relatives had gone on over into King township."

"I'm sorry they left us," said Slaty. "Perhaps this snow will bring them back again. I hope it brings somebody back. I've been quite lonely for the last week or so. For a while there I almost thought I would try to make friends with some Starlings who had been spending a lot of time quite near me and who seemed to be having a good time together."

"And did you?" asked Handsome with interest.

"No, I decided against it, because I was afraid they might be unpleasant and I got cold feet," confessed Slaty. "However, I did something worse. I made up my mind to be friendly with some Pigeons. There are quite a number of them around the town, you know, particularly in the vicinity of Main St. A couple of them were walking about on a low roof and I called out to them as cheerfully as I could."

"What happened?" inquired the Jay.

"I don't know when I've been so humiliated," said Slaty indignantly, with a flourish of his pretty white tail feathers. "They just stuck their bills in the air and didn't even answer me. Not one word! Just pretended they didn't hear! I had no idea that Pigeons would be so hoity-toity."

"Oh, yes, I'm afraid they regard themselves as a cut above the ordinary wild birds," Handsome told the Junco. "They always do act and look just a little superior, you know. They have a sense of their own importance which, no doubt, has become a part of their natures as a result of the heroic and important missions which some Pigeons have undertaken in the past. They just can't get over it I guess."

"Of course, some Pigeons must still be used for carrying messages," said Slaty, "but even so, that's no reason to be unfriendly to other birds. But let's change the subject. Do you know anything interesting?"

"I hear there was a great big Snowy Owl shot up near Queensville recently," Handsome said. "It does seem rather a shame to shoot birds like that. They should be allowed to live. There are so few of them around this part of the country."

"That's all right in theory," said Slaty with a slight shiver. "If I could be perfectly sure that they would find plenty of rabbits and mice to eat and not feel tempted to try a nice, tasty Junco dinner, I would agree with you."

"Well, you may be sure of this, that the Snowy Owl's favorite food, over 90 percent of their diet, is rats and mice of various kinds," said Handsome. "In the north they live on lemmings and when the lemmings are scarce they come down here. Occasionally they kill a small bird, mostly small water birds. And even if they did get the occasional bird of your type, it would probably be a sick or feeble bird, who wasn't very smart. I think it's a disgrace the way the hunters kill off the Snowy Owls every time they migrate down here in a lean year."

"It does seem rather unfair when you think of it that way," admitted Slaty.

"Why I understand that hardly any of the poor Owls who come down here ever reach home again, because so many of them are killed off," said Handsome. "Someone took a survey in 1926-27, when they were fairly abundant here, and estimated that 1,500 were killed in Ontario and Quebec alone."

"I guess anyone interested in farming would be foolish to kill them if they help the farmer so much with the killing off of the rodents," Slaty put in.

"I'm going out towards those trees," the Blue Jay suddenly told the other bird. "I just saw two or three birds flying in that direction. From the swift way they swooped up and down as they flew I think they must be Goldfinches. I'm going to find out."

"I hope they are Goldfinches," Slaty said to himself as the Blue Jay flew away. "They would be better company for me than a Blue Jay. I can never really feel intimate with a Blue Jay. You can't help remembering that at heart he is a cannibal, eating young birds or eggs. The Jays aren't to be trusted."

Occasionally I receive a belated copy of The Era. Like Harry Lauder ("he took his lassie to the tea-party after she had bought the tickets") it brings back recollections of the early days. I learned my A B C's from Ayer's Almanac and The Era edited by Erastus the scribe.

Mon, it sure makes an auld laddie proud to read about the patriotic work of his kin in this terrible calamity.

Away out here in the wild woolly west, where the tall corn grows and the wheat really begins, where the farmers raised more corn to feed more hogs to buy more land, now they will raise more products to build more ships and to feed more Yanks to lick more Shicklereubers, Japs and Dagos and send more sons to fight in the air, on land and the high seas for the liberty of the world.

The Americans have a gigantic problem to solve. We have millions of Nazi fifth columnists living within our borders and morally rotten, educated by Shicklereuber to enslave the world, also herds of the treacherous Judas Iscariots of the land of the Rising Sun who are boring from within. "Remember Pearl Harbor." That is really a reflection on Judas, for after all Judas Iscariot was quite a gentleman compared with the slant-eyed gang of outlaws. For after having betrayed his Master, Judas had character enough to hang himself.

Probably we needed the kills, we have had our pants down for a long time, we have been mollycoddling, boondoggling and pollyfooting these cooties ever since the first world's war. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."

I wonder if we fully realize the mighty job we have on our hands, if you do not think so, just read Mein Kampf and Education for Death in February Reader's Digest, then wipe off the cobwebs from your Bible and read the Ten Commandments. The Kaiser's favorite quotation was "Me and God." Shicklereuber's is "I am God," building up a race of supermen (Super Demons) pure (Barb) Aryans who will be a menace to untold generations and civilization, even after ignominious defeat.

They are not fooling Uncle Sam. He does not have to defeat God but lick hell out of false gods.

The bear that refused to dance to the organ grinder Shicklereuber and his trained monkey, da bigga mush a roona Muss o leen, is showing the world that the Hun is not a superman under the divine guidance of the Commander-in-Chief of the universe. Adolph has got a real bear by the tail and he cannot let go.

The King of Golden Highways will not intercede in this unholy war, but will let humanity work out its own salvation. In my opinion, he will not help the Axis nor will he help the Allies, and show the spectators in the amphitheatre of the world the damndest fight they ever saw. "A la la trapper."

Thank God, Canada has always done more than their share. They have never in all their glorious history shown the yellow streak. She has generously spilled her blood and sacrificed her resources and now she does not have to be conscripted to give her all for humanity's posterity.

Mon do you ken that Miss Canada has a very warum fren' across the only peaceful international boundary in the world, Uncle Sam, an' aye do belyve that we Sammy wuld lak the lead her tae the altar as his bride, if he didn't ken her intense patriotism an' love for the mither country.

CALENDARS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

There is one New Year's gift that to me, at any rate, is always acceptable—and that is a calendar.

There is something about the thought of those twelve pages that intrigues one—say what will one be doing on the 10th of June or the first of October, and we think back and try—in my case mostly vainly—to remember what we did on those dates last year.

One thing that invariably intrigues me, in a mystery story—and I am an addict—is the sometimes phenomenal power of memory displayed by suspects when suddenly confronted by the question, "What were you doing on the evening of such and such a month at such an hour?" I'm afraid that even if my life depended on it I'd be hard pressed to have even the vaguest idea.

And then there are the pictures on the calendars. I can remember when no such artistic gems as one commonly sees nowadays adorned these cravable reminders that time flies. One glanced at a calendar for strictly business purposes, and then went away without another glance.

Of late years I've had some calendars to which I go for reference and then stay to enjoy. Some outstanding triumph of architecture or beauty of earth and sky and sea; some well-known face, so which you look as into that of a friend, and gather strength and courage; maybe it's a convoy of vessels with its mighty winged guardians. And I've one of a castle set on a rock, which always makes me think of the hymn—"A safe stronghold our God is still."

And calendars are splendid conscience prickers: it's so easy to say, "Oh, there's lots of time to get this or that done," but turn to the calendar and you realize that you are doing some wishful thinking—making time out of desire.

And every month of the calendar has a character of its own, either because of certain characteristics or because of some outstanding event, which gets an extra mark on the sheet.

January, to me, is dominated by New Year's day, so is the "beginning again" month—a month when we start out with a brand new set of resolves and even if we lose a few on our path down the year, still some advance has been made—one or two resolves kept.

February boasts St. Valentine, the smoother of the sometimes thorny path of true love; so we let Cupid decorate the second sheet of our calendar with hearts and arrows and hope St. Valentine will do the rest.

March has St. Patrick's day, with its shamrocks and harps, and is often as changeable from storms to sunshine as the true Irish heart. April we associate with Easter—a time of resurrection—a rising again of all that Mother Earth has buried during the long, hard winter—all these small types of the one wonderful resurrection—the resurrection that bids our often buried hopes, ideals and aspirations to arise and shine.

May and June should have their pages decorated with birds and flowers. To wake in the morning and hear first a twitter, then a trill and lastly a rousade, not by one bird chorister, but by many, is something to thank the Creator for, and to watch the shy peeping out of early flowers and then the fullness of beauty and fragrance—these things make a June morning like a vast cathedral rich in music and perfume.

July is freedom's own: I think there are six nations who celebrate liberty birthday in it. We perhaps feel for a little while, as we too seldom do, just what our democratic heritage means—and now, more than ever, when all the evil forces in the world are leagued against it.

August and September are devoted to civil and labor rights—we look at our civic responsibilities and we see how far labor has advanced upon its platform of equal rights for all; and through both July and August the harvest yields her rich increase and earth and sky are lovely under the shimmering summer sun.

In October we stop in our whirl of work and fight and play and give thanks to the great Giver for all His gifts. They are so many and so wonderful, we too often take them as a matter of course—and yet what are we to deserve them?

November is Remembrance month, when we pay tribute reverently and thankfully to those who for us bore the burden of battle, nor surrendered to any save the great Reaper—we say of them, may their souls rest in peace.

And December? It bears the fruition of the years—on Christmas eve, "the hopes and fears of all the years," meet, and humanity's great Emancipator comes to his task.

Christmas day marks the climax—the glorious drawing together of the months—eleven sheets of the calendar are gone—the twelfth crowns all!

devils get around. In our first four days here my batman was at two dances, was booked up for Xmas dinner, had two girl friends, and had night in London twice. Each night he comes back with an armload of firewood—wood is about as scarce as Brussels sprouts in Newmarket. Some of the pieces of wood look highly suspicious. I know I saw one piece one of the boys was bringing back that looked suspiciously like one half of a park bench. This same batman of mine is already a self-styled authority on the city of London, although he came from Talla-hassie, Florida.

The telephone drive you mad. No military numbers are given out over the phone, so you have to keep calling till you find someone that can tell you what you want to know. I remember the night we arrived I wanted to put a boy in hospital. The hospital was about 10 miles away, but during the process of getting to it I talked to hospitals as much as 60 miles away. One fellow with a decidedly English accent (Courtney would envy him) said, "I say, old boy—I don't think it's us you want—I'm on the other side of London." While waiting for a connection I remarked to a fellow beside me, "I'm slowly going nuts." Whereupon central says, "That's alright sir, you'll get used to it."

Then they have a pay phone that's a dandy. The slots are for shillings, sixpence and pennies, and they are horizontal affairs below the phone. On one occasion at central's request I put in my tuppence. She was some time getting the number—I had to remind her of it. At that she said, "Put in your tuppence please." I told her I'd already done so and she sent me a scolding. "Well now—isn't that just too bad!" Another tuppence went in.

But most people are extremely obliging. Already I have been invited out for meals at several places, but you hate to go, realizing how your host is rationed, and our English staff sergeant has literally put his ear at my disposal. I had to refuse that, too, because of the petrol ration the jingle of a dollar in their pocket.

(Editor's Note: In an aside to the editor Duncan McTavish, or W. S. McClintock, Galva, Ill., chemist, tells that his father was Dr. James McClintock, a Scotch-Irishman, and his mother was "a Quakeress o' the Millard clan.") He signed the above letter with both names, and apparently intended that both names should be published.)

Now I must sign off as the flu will not take it any longer. If any of the boys have time to drop me a line and aren't too anxious for a reply (I can't promise an answer) I'd be glad to hear from you. Just about now Newmarket is almost Heaven and I don't think I'll be really happy till I see it again. If there are any close friends you'd like me to look up, let me know. And, by the way, haven't you a club in London?

If you fellows have lots of dough to throw around—funny joke—the R.C.D.'s would love to have chocolate bars or cigarettes. It's true it's not a Newmarket unit, so perhaps you had better stick to the Newmarket boys. Chocolate bars and coffee are at a premium. Don't get me wrong, this is not a personal dun—I had made fairly satisfactory arrangements before I left.

Very best regards to you all, Yours in Lionism,

POLICE COURT VAGRANT SAYS HE IS 84, DENIED PENSION

Pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving on Huron St. in the township of Whitby, on Jan. 24, when the car he was driving skidded across two culverts, Harry Charles Graves, Newmarket, was fined $10 and cost of ten days in jail by his worship, Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, in Newmarket police court on Tuesday.

County Constable Ronald Watt told his worship that on Jan. 21 he investigated an accident on Huron St. between Yonge St. and the town of Newmarket, and found the car which was driven by the defendant lying on its side. He stated that he followed a mark for 325 feet to where the car came to rest. "I started at the west end of the mark," testified the officer. "It proceeded east for 180 feet, where it went over a small culvert about ten feet wide. It continued another 135 feet and over another culvert two feet six inches in height. The car then turned over and slid on its side."

Asked by Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., if Mr. Graves gave any explanation at the time for the accident, Constable Watt replied that Mr. Graves told him that he had been blinded by the lights of an approaching car and believing himself familiar enough with the road tried to pass the other car without lessening his speed. However, he found himself unable to get back on the road.

"When you can't see you should stop," Magistrate Woodliffe told the defendant. "You shouldn't drive blindly."

Finding himself in a quandary as to what to do with 84-year-old John Green, who was charged with vagrancy, his worship remanded him in custody for one week with bail set at $20.

Mr. Green, who has been an inmate at the York county industrial home on Yonge St., Newmarket, since Jan. 12, 1942, refused to return to that institution, although he admitted that he had no means of subsistence nor any home to which he might go.

Chief Constable James Sloss of Newmarket told his worship that Mr. Green had come to him the day before and told him that he had had trouble with Mr. Sprague at the home and was not going to return, instead he was going to Toronto. The officer said that later Mr. Sprague got in touch with him and received a telephone call from the C.N.R. station that Mr. Green was there and had no money. The officer stated that he learned that the defendant was 69 years of age, too young to get the old age pension.

Major Ernest Sprague, superintendent of the York county home, stated that the defendant had been sent to the home on Jan. 12 as a result of "representations of J. H. Wesley, medical attendant." He stated that Mr. Green had left the institution on Jan. 21, saying that he was going to collect money and clothes which belonged to him at the jail farm. He stated that the defendant was inclined to talk a great deal and was not congenial with other inmates of the home. He confirmed the defendant's statement that he had a little trouble with the latter but said he thought nothing of it.

"I don't like it there, that's all," stated the defendant in his own defence. "They don't feed you well enough to suit me." He denied that he was 69 years of age as shown on a census slip and produced a slip from an old family Bible showing him to be 84 years of age. He said that he had tried to get the old age pension 13 years before but the department told him he was not old enough. "According to them I've been 69 years of age twice," he stated. "They said I was 69 years then."

and now they've got me 69 again. "If I could get a job firing boilers, I would work for $10 a week and keep myself," he continued. "You've been in trouble before," commented Magistrate Woodliffe. "Yes, I've been in trouble a great many times before and always got out of it. I never came out with a black eye," replied Mr. Green. His worship smiled and explained that he did not mean that kind of trouble. "You've been in jail before," he asked. Mr. Green admitted that he had and that on that occasion also he had been charged with vagrancy. "Instead of giving me a job, they sent me to jail," he stated. "You won't go back to the House of Refuge and there is one sure thing and that is that I'm not going to let you loose, you'll freeze to death," stated the magistrate. "I'll remand you one week in custody. You might think better of it next week."

Exceeding the speed limit on Yonge St. brought a fine of $10 and costs to Reginald Cottle, Toronto. Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that the defendant had been travelling between Eagle St. and Holland Landing at 65 miles an hour.

Ralph Charles, a soldier whose home address is Jackson's Point, was given a week's remand. The defendant is charged on four counts with stealing from the Dominion of Canada letters containing cheques. Two of the cheques were for $8.12 and two for $24.37. Charges against Harley Fizzell, Schomberg, and Percy Hill, Nobleton, of keeping a gaming-house were adjourned for two weeks. His worship also adjourned for a week the cases of Ivan Russo, Burlington, and Norman Hillson, Milton Heights, charged with "conducting an illegal contrivance."

CANDLEMAS DAY

By GOLDEN GLOW

Candlemas Day, Feb. 2, is, as you know, the day on which the groundhog is supposed to come out of his hole at high noon, and, if he sees his shadow, he ducks down into it again as quickly as possible, and remains there for another six weeks, and we are supposed to have six more weeks of wintry weather.

Well! It is high noon Monday, Feb. 2, and here I am taking special note of the weather! The sky is a deep, beautiful azure color, looking even more blue because of the lovely white snow all round—a deep intense blue, with not a breath of wind to stir the trees but just steady persistent sub-zero cold weather all day. Over our street it was 20 degrees below zero this morning and on our thermometer it was still 11 degrees below at noon. I haven't looked since about 12.30, but there doesn't seem to be a sign of a drip from icicles on my next-door neighbor's house, so I judge it is still away below zero, and likely to be again this evening.

Down in the U.S. and maybe here in Canada as well, for all I know, there are societies whose members assemble today and go on a trek to find a bona-fide groundhog hole, and so make an accurate check-up on a groundhog at high noon. Don't forget the "high noon"—for that is an important part of the ceremony! But whether Mr. Groundhog is on D.S.T. or standard time must also be considered, of course. But I'd say it was a pretty cold day to give him much leeway, waiting for an hour or so. However, if the gentlemen in question think it worth-while to go, then no doubt they'd think it worth-while to wait, if need be.

So I think we are safe in assuming that Mr. Groundhog stayed indoors in his snug, warm winter quarters—it is after half past one and I have allowed for D.S.T. you see. So six more weeks of winter weather! I spoke of the sky being particularly blue against the whiteness of the snow—you see it is new fallen and hasn't had time to get smudgy yet. It fell all Saturday afternoon, and on, then, about nine o'clock, it started in good earnest, and by morning we were in a complete white world. It did not drift, just fell silently like rain, while the thermometer dropped and dropped steadily, till, as I said, it was 20 degrees below zero this morning over our street.

Of course the birds needed special attention yesterday and I didn't do a thing I expected all afternoon, watching them round my home. I have a table on the east verandah outside the window where I have taught them to come to be fed, besides feeding on the suet on the lilac bush and on the Christmas tree tied up to a post in the garden. I fed them cracked wheat bread and chopped suet and it was such a pleasure to watch them!

Then all of a sudden, looking out the north window at their Christmas tree, I saw a flash of red in the lilac bush in the corner and there was my friend the cardinal! "Good cheer," he says. I promptly forgot all the others and when he flew towards the east verandah I slipped over to that window, and there he was feasting on those red berries on the vine that grows up the lilac bush opposite the verandah—oh, is he ever a beauty! Such a vivid red and the pretty crest on his head! Then he flew into the tree and away towards the street and so I lost him. But, before long, looking out again, there was his mate, sitting quite close on the fancy wire fence—then it began feasting on the red berries.

As I sit here now, writing this, I can see a Nuthatch chasing itself up and down the tree opposite the east window. The cute way they stop, all the birds, every so often, and scoop up a bill full of snow is so

Newmarket Boy Enjoys English Christmas

The Era received the following letter from Sapper Milton G. Morton this week. Spr. Morton, who is from Newmarket, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morton. The letter also enclosed an interesting poem written by Spr. Morton, in which he expressed the feelings of the soldier boys "as we join with you in our united efforts for peace." The letter was written on Jan. 7.

Editor, The Era: Again, I take up my pen to convey to all my friends of Newmarket my sincere thanks for cigarettes from the Boy Scouts, Christmas parcels from the war veterans' association and parcels and Christmas greetings from all my friends.

You all have given to your boys convincing proof that we were much in your thoughts at this season of the year. You also gave us the opportunity not only of indulging in rations unheard of and undreamed of in our army menu, but of sharing with our less fortunate mates those treats contained in your parcels.

It was my privilege to spend Christmas with relatives in Romney, Cheshire, where I was treated in the full sense of the term as one of their own. There I became fully acquainted with all the joys of an English Christmas and was, by a miracle of providence, the happy participant in a Christmas dinner of fowl, which I enjoyed thoroughly.

As we reclined in our huts while the Old Year passed into eternity, many of us recalled where we were the year previous. Most of us were, of course, in our own homes and as the Old Year approached the zero hour there was a silence which signified how much we would have loved to have been with our loved ones. To cover up and disguise our homesickness, many fantastic suggestions were made as to how we might overcome the distance separating us from you. One suggested that we each, with ears, take up position on the shores of this country, equidistant from each other, break the anchor holding England to the earth's axis, and row the island across the Atlantic.

Extending greetings to all, I am,
Yours truly,
Milton Morton.

Glenville

Mr. Vance Webster and daughter, Gloria, of Toronto, were the guests of Mr. Webster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webster, for a few days this week.

The dance held in aid of the B.W.V.F. at the Glenville school last Friday evening was a big success. The dance was sponsored by Miss Laurene Koffer and Miss Hazel Sharpe. The net proceeds were $25.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webster were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Robinson on Saturday evening.

Mr. Bruce Empringham of Gormley spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. George.

Friends are sorry to hear of the illness of Aubrey Doane and trust he will have a speedy recovery.

Miss Jean Webster spent last weekend with her cousin, Miss quint. I suppose it does in place of water and this weather I can't keep their drinking dish clear of ice.

Then on Saturday night several of us were so excited for we had an owl out here again in the big maple tree—we stayed outside with the snow falling like rain waiting for a glimpse of it, but it wouldn't come down and we heard its who-hoo over in a tree in the next garden, so we gave up.

Nature always has some interesting thing for us if we care to take time to look for it. Oh, I didn't say—the cardinal's mate hasn't his brilliant red coloring—but it is shaped the same and has the same shaped crest. It is smaller too. But the cardinal is certainly a handsome bird and the patch of black round its crimson bill and down round on its throat and chest mark it for distinction in the bird kingdom. It gives me a glow of pleasure and pride whenever I think of it—that they should come and make themselves at home in my garden!

Wilda Webster.
Mrs. Wm. George and Miss Mary George spent last Wednesday afternoon the guests of Mrs. E. Somerville, Newmarket.

ROCHE'S POINT MRS. A. H. WALINCK IS LAID TO REST

The funeral services for the late Mrs. A. H. Walinck, who died at York county hospital, Newmarket, on Monday, Jan. 26, were held on Wednesday of last week.

A short service was held at her late residence, followed by a public service in Christ church, which was very largely attended. Relatives and friends were present from Toronto, Newmarket, Keswick and Sutton to pay their last respects to one who had given so much of her time and energy for the welfare of the community. The services were in the charge of Rev. A. J. Forte, assisted by Rev. Gordon Lapp of Keswick.

A social of wide interest for the community will be held in the parish hall on Friday evening, Feb. 6, at eight o'clock sharp, D.S.T. The main feature of the evening will be the showing of a film featuring Dick Powell and Allan Drew in "Christmas in July." Music and refreshments will round out an enjoyable evening's entertainment. A silver collection will be taken in aid of the work of Christ church W.A. The gathering has been made possible through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Matthews of Toronto.

The Women's Institute held a very successful meeting at the home of Miss M. C. Young on Jan. 13. Mrs. E. J. Bunn, the president, was in the chair. The speaker for the occasion was Rev. A. J. Forte, who gave a brief address entitled, "How to Write your Member of Parliament." The speaker stressed the point that when citizens take enough interest to write to their lawmakers and feel free to speak their minds and when their members honestly reply, faith in democratic government is established. A social hour followed the business part of the meeting.

On Feb. 10, Roche's Point branch of the Women's Institute are entertaining branches from Belhaven, Lakeside and Elmhurst. The meeting will be held in Christ church parish hall and will commence sharp at 2 p.m. D.S.T. Visitors in the community will be made welcome.

Era auction sale bills command attention and are produced at a low price which includes a sale notice in The Era.

MOVIES PARADE

Gene Autry's newest picture, "Down Mexico Way," deals with Gene's efforts in exposing a criminal gang who are attempting to stage a false "world premiere" of a motion picture. The film goes into the Strand theatre for a two-day run starting Friday.

Elly Lee, who has a starring role in "Reglar Fellers," on the same program, is, at eleven years, one of the youngest recognized dance band leaders in the country.

William Powell and Myrna Loy have again assumed their famous characterizations as Nick and Nora Charles, with Nick, Jr., and Asta rounding out the now famous "Thin Man" family in "Shadow of the Thin Man" coming Monday to the Strand.

Mixing the hilarious domestic life of Nick and Nora with another fascinating murder case, the latest "Thin Man" story gives Detective Charles a difficult problem to solve, with no less than three corpses to deal with. As usual, tries to be the helpful little woman and, as usual, only adds to his clothing problems. Nick, Jr., now walking and talking, proves to be a young tyrant, and Asta has added some new tricks to those which have delighted audiences in the past.

Roger Pryor, who is co-starred with Cecilia Parker in "Gambling Daughters," Monday at the Strand theatre, is the only film star ever to fly an experimental warplane from coast to coast.

Headed by that immortal of modern music, Gershwin, the names of America's top tunesmiths adorn the credit list of the new musical, "Lady Be Good," starring Eleanor Powell, Ann Southern and Robert Young, and opening Wednesday at the Strand theatre.

"Lady Be Good" boasts two Gershwin compositions, namely "Lady Be Good" and "Fascinating Rhythm." In addition there is the popular Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein II number, "The Last Time I Saw Paris," and also the new compositions, "You'll Never Know" and "Your Words and My Music."

Aimed to please every type of audience, "Lady Be Good" combines excellent story material along with laughs, melody and dancing. Hitting a new stride as well is Ann Southern, whose "Maiale" characterizations skyrocketed her to stardom. "So Ends Our Night," the stirring love story which unfolds in present-day Europe, starring Frederic March and Margaret Sullivan, is on the same program.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS WILL CONVENE HERE

The North York Temperance Federation convention will be held in Trinity United church, Newmarket, on Friday, Feb. 13. Since all temperance people were thankful for the success in the recent campaign against beverage rooms in Newmarket, it is appropriate to celebrate by honoring this municipality by convening there.

A full turn-out of the county residents to this convention will be another practical manifestation of the appreciation of the adjoining municipalities for this firm stand of the voters of Newmarket for sobriety and economy.

That a public speaking contest is an important feature of the program is most opportune, in view of the emphasis in Mayor Dr. L. W. Dates' 1942 inaugural address on the need for more encouragement of public speaking.

It is desired that personal or school work in the line of temperance posters, scrap books and experiments may be brought for display during the convention, to add to the interest in the future work for temperance.

The committees meet at 3 p.m. and the convention session at 4 p.m. There will be an address by Rev. Dr. C. W. De Mille of the Ontario Temperance Federation in the afternoon. Supper will be served by the ladies of the United church. The oratorical contest and post rally will be held in the evening at 8 p.m.

PAY INCREASE GIVEN 3 TOWN EMPLOYEES

"The budget will be struck in March," said the finance chairman, Deputy-Reeve C. E. Sparks at a town council meeting on Monday. "I am asking all organizations that expect grants to let us know by Feb. 25. If we don't hear then we shouldn't deal with them."

Town Foreman James Goulding appeared before the council on Monday evening and requested a salary increase.

"I make $23 a week and have full responsibility for the arena, streets, disposal plant, sewers, the town employees and do extra police work," said Mr. Goulding. "In December you granted me $3 per week extra for the rink. All this did was to give me 20 cents extra, as with the increase I come under the national defence tax and so gain nothing."

"Mr. Goulding has dependents and it is based on the whole year's tax," said Clerk A. C. A. Willis. "Mr. Goulding is paying it all out now."

"What do you want?" asked the mayor.

"I believe a salary of $28 would be satisfactory," said Mr. Goulding. "I will not expect any extras. This will include everything."

The council after due deliberation granted Mr. Goulding his requested raise. The mayor was also instructed to purchase him a new police uniform, his present one being worn out after seven years of service. Chief Constable Dunham will also receive two new pairs of trousers for his uniform.

Town Clerk A. C. A. Willis appeared for an increase in salary. He said that his present salary was only slightly over $21 a week and that Mr. Large, his assistant, who was also tax collector and had several other duties, received in all $25 per week. The council congratulated Mr. Willis on his improved health and members were all agreed that this work was satisfactory and merited a raise. His new salary was set at $25 per week.

Leo Hodgins, who acts as caretaker of municipal buildings and as traffic officer on Yonge St. for the school children, had his salary raised to $17.50 from $15. The council said his work was lengthy and was well done.

"He has to stay at Mechanics' hall until the dances or games are over—it takes a lot of hours," said his worship.

Dr. G. A. C. Gunton proposed that the German gun at the waterworks be turned over for national salvage and the council approved of this suggestion.

The council also approved of the historical background. The Aurora War Veterans will be consulted as to their attitude in the matter.

After the five minute overtime started Hughes scored what looked like the winning basket, but Harvey Pingold, Ray Lloyd and Bill Kerr scored in rapid succession to annex the game.

Denny Babcock landed the whistle. Pingold with four points was leading scorer for the old boys while Rose tallied six for the school.

OBJECT TO SALVAGE BIN ON YONGE ST.

The streets committee were requested to deal with the matter of finding a suitable place for the national salvage bin in front of the post office, at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

Deputy-Reeve C. E. Sparks introduced the subject when he said that there were many complaints. He suggested the bin be moved back about the overflow of refuse, damage to cars, proximity to a hydrant and general unsightliness of the town hall.

"That is entirely unsuitable," said Councillor Dr. Gunton. "You will only kill our salvage campaign. We collect a ton a week there."

"We appreciate what you are doing but there must be other sites just as good as the main part of the town," said the deputy-revee.

"Strangers to the town comment about its appearance, and the papers that blow from it," said the mayor.

"Certain people have been against this from the start," said Dr. Gunton. "I can see they have lobbied the members of the council fairly successfully. We got permission from the streets committee to put it there. They should bring in a recommendation, not the whole council."

"I am going to declare this motion out of order and let the streets committee deal with it," said the mayor.

"We can probably arbitrate the matter, but we must have some place equally prominent," said Councillor Dr. Gunton. "The farmers know where to take salvage now. We could do with publicity."

"I don't see unsightly boxes on the streets of Richmond Hill or Newmarket," said the mayor. "There must be some way of dealing with it."

College Wins First O.H.A. Game By 2 Goals

St. Andrew's college first won their first O.H.A. hockey match of the season on Saturday afternoon, defeating St. Michael's college Buzzers 7-5.

The game was scheduled suddenly by the O.H.A. and almost caught the college napping. The score was 4-1 at the end of the first period, both teams hitting hard.

St. Andrew's forged ahead in the second period, netting two goals to none for the visitors, while in the final period each team scored once. Chuck MacMillan, captain of the college team, got three goals, Spence, Lang, Gowland and Fraser being the other scorers.

St. Andrew's was a tail-enders' battle, as the visitors have not as yet won a game. Garney Large of Toronto was referee.

Ruling May Throw Out Markham Games

Beyond the news from W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., that the association was ordering all five teams in the group to have the play-offs, Aurora juniors have had no further word concerning play-off dates.

They are awaiting a group meeting ordered by the O.H.A. Originally the schedule called for the first team to play the third club and the second team to play the fourth-place club in a best three-of-five series. Etobicoke finished first with six wins and two losses and Aurora second with five wins and three losses. On paper Markham and Etobicoke would clash and Aurora and Milton.

The local club understands that Oakville and Etobicoke have protested the use of Guelph Junior Young by Markham. Young has already played for Toronto's Native Sons as well as Markham, contrary to O.H.A. rules. As Etobicoke has beaten Markham twice and Aurora once, these two clubs' positions would not be affected by disbanding Young, but would change the picture for Milton and Oakville if the Markham games were thrown out. The play-offs will get under way in some form next week.

Town Will Hold Toxoid Clinics But Parents Pay

The Aurora town council on Monday evening approved the holding of clinics for toxoid against scarlet fever among the children of the town, but considered that the parents should bear the whole cost. Mayor Frank Underhill, who was elected chairman of the board of health on Saturday, said a joint meeting had been held with the doctors of the town. "Quite a few cases of sore throat which may easily develop into scarlet fever are about the town," said his worship.

"As yet there is no scarlet fever here, but the board of health believes we should take immediate precautions. Will council undertake to pay part of the cost, all the cost or none?"

The mayor explained that the work would be divided between the four physicians in the town, with Dr. G. W. Williams, M.O.H., supervising. Each child would be charged a nominal fee for each of the three treatments. The board recommended that the town pay half and the parents half.

"I don't see why the parents shouldn't pay the whole thing," said Councillor A. A. Cook.

"The board has wide powers and can make its own arrangements as approved by the government," said the mayor. "It was felt that the matter was not properly included in the M.O.H.'s salary."

"I think you should put the proposals of the board in writing so we will know all about it," said Councillor Dr. G. A. C. Gunton.

"All the council needs to do is let me know their attitude," said the mayor. "I will tell the board and they will take whatever steps they think necessary. If they decide part of the expense is to be borne by the town I think they have that power."

"It is not a compulsory matter and many will not take advantage of it," said Councillor Linton. "I think most people will be able to pay their own fees and with working conditions improved should do so."

"It might cost us as much as $200 or even more," said Councillor A. N. Fisher. "That's pretty high, even though we approve of it. I assume arrangements would be made to take care of those who couldn't pay?"

The council finally approved of the whole scheme, but decided that the parents should pay for the services themselves.

"I believe so, but I can't say when," replied Dr. Gunton. "I know the owners are anxious to see something done. Fleury-Bissell have not as yet taken over the Grover plant. If it is all put in shape there will be some employment available for local people."

Dr. Gunton, as chairman of the industrial committee, reported the committee to obtain orders for them in addition to what they have.

"We have written several war industries and I believe they will receive some additional contracts," he said. "In addition I believe the Aurora Engineering Company will be able to give them some work. The latter firm has orders ahead for six months and appears to be well on its way to success."

LIVED IN AURORA FOR FORTY YEARS

The death occurred on Friday of Philip A. Reynolds, for 40 years a resident of Aurora.

Mr. Reynolds, who resided on Tyler St., had been in ill health for the past few years. He was born in Uxbridge township, Ontario county, and was in his 70th year.

Mr. Reynolds was for many years a member of Aurora Baptist church. The funeral services were held at his late residence and at Aurora cemetery on Monday, with Rev. A. H. Park in charge.

Surviving are his widow, Albertina Quantz Reynolds, a daughter, Mrs. A. Reynolds (Vida), of Belleville, and two sons, Floyd of Toronto, and Wilmet of Mount Forest.

ELDERLY RESIDENT STRICKEN SUDDENLY

The death occurred suddenly on Monday morning of Wallace Sydney Bishop, aged resident of Kennedy St.

Mr. Bishop, who was in his 84th year, had seemed perfectly well in the morning and had read the morning paper. Mrs. Bishop was in the basement when she heard him fall, and came upstairs to find her husband dead. Death was apparently due to heart failure.

Mr. Bishop was born at Bishopton, P.Q. His grandfather founded the town 142 years ago. He received his education there and later settled at Kimberley in Gray county, where he operated for 35 years flour, saw and planing mills.

There he was a prominent official of the Methodist church, one of his pastors being Rev. Thomas White, now resident in Aurora. Fifteen years ago he came to reside in Aurora and attended the Aurora United church. He is survived by one daughter, Gertrude Burritt Bishop, of one daughter, Miss Elva Bishop, of the staff of Smith Falls Collegiate Institute, one sister and one brother. A son, Vernon, was drowned at Jackson's Point a few years ago while visiting here.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday at his late residence and at Aurora cemetery, with Rev. Roy Hicks and Rev. Thomas White in charge.

DOWN MARKIES 8-7, MOVE TO SECOND PLACE

Giving one of their finest displays of the season, Aurora juniors reached the play-off trail in second place in the group, defeating Markham 8-7 in regulation time at Unionville on Monday.

The winless Markham boys gave a real display of both power and come-back ability. Ross Turnbull turned in his best game of the season, while Rookie Ken Nash was a thorn in the side of the Generals all night with his checking. Each boy also got a goal.

Harold Capra clinched a fine evening's work by scoring two last period goals that meant victory.

Aurora led all the way and at one time had the score 6-3 in their favor. Markham evened the count three times by magnificent power plays, but Aurora had the edge necessary for a goal when it was necessary.

Aurora scored two in two minutes of the first period, Turnbull and Broughton combining at 1:30 and Beaumont and Capra 40 seconds later. Patterson got one back at 5:10 as he took Northcott's pass. Myles MacInnis zoomed a haymaker past Beaumont at 15:12 after Beaumont had set up the opening. Loose defensive work allowed Lloyd Weatherall to cut the lead by one just before the bell.

Nick Bangay evened matters on a lone sortie early in the first period, and then concentrated his blitz on Roadway netted three goals by Beaumont, Stark and Nash. Ronnie Rowe led his mates to heroic heights as Aurora was hard pressed and drew within one goal.

Rowe continued his offensive in the third and at 44:45 had the count all knotted. Capra and Broughton and Aurora in front midway through the period only to have Weatherall and Ross make it even-seven again. Capra and his buddy, Turnbull, took command at 15:46 as they scored a beauty. Harold doing the honors. From then on Aurora had complete mastery and only stellar work by Roadway prevented a bigger score.

The star awards go to Capra, who scored the winning goal and was consistently good, to Ross Turnbull, for one of his best efforts, and to Ronnie Rowe, Markham's ace forward, who skated miles and was dangerous all the way. There wasn't a weak man on either team and all the boys deserve a hand.

Aurora goal, Hamilton: defence, Turnbull and MacInnis; centre, Stark; wings, Stephens and Brough; subs, Capra, Broughton, Beaumont, Nash and Hughes.

Markham: goal, Roadway; defence, Bangay and Sabiston; centre, Rowe; wings, Watson and Weatherall; subs, McLeod, Junkin, Patterson, Calhoun, Page, Northcott, Haynes.

"Co-operation Essential In Prevention Of Diseases"

A LETTER FROM THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Mr. and Mrs. Citizen:

At a meeting of the board of health on Saturday, Jan. 31, to which all the medical men of the town were invited, consideration was given to the fact that a mild type of scarlet fever is somewhat prevalent throughout the province and that the provincial department of health are recommending the giving of toxoids.

There are a few cases in this town which show definite symptoms of this disease and although it is not at the present time thought serious enough to be cause for alarm, it may, due to a tendency in the disease to become more virulent on recurrence, become so at any time.

With this in view the board thought it advisable to encourage toxoiding all children of school age and of pre-school age. The holding of a clinic, where all the doctors would participate and co-operate, was thought to be the quickest, most economical and at the same time efficient way of dealing with the problem.

This of course would entail some expense and as the board of health does not have funds its disposal representation was made to council asking them to consider their bearing such expense either in whole or in part with those getting the toxoid. The board recommended that council bear half and that the individual bear half, feeling that this would bring better results.

The council were quite in accord with every precaution being taken but were of the opinion that all charges necessary for the operation of the clinic and for the tox

DOWN THE CENTRE

Freddie Hodder, whom the late "Turk" Doyle steered here in 1930 from Paris juniors, who made many friends even if he couldn't make the grade for the juniors as a regular, is another former Aurora athlete who has answered the call to arms. Fred is now in England as a C.Q.M.S. with the Lorne Scots.

Rules apparently mean nothing to the senior T.H.L. commercial series, for though they have a ruling that O.H.A. players can't play in their group, we notice Harold Bruels (not the former political figure, but his cousin) has signed up Bob Bangay, who plays for Markham, and Jack Culverwell, who plays for Sutton. Bangay was absent last Monday when his Markham juniors played here. Austy Baker handled the club from the bench and did a fine job, so good that Bangay was not even missed.

Carl Junkin, the Lindsay flash who is one of the main cogs in the Generals' attack, was missing also, but he, too, wasn't needed. Junkin is top scorer on the last year's junior champs line-up and from all accounts a mighty dangerous boy. Once again Markham have a first-line trio that measures up to the best in C hockey at least. Ronnie Rowe, Pesky Wetherill and Jack Watson, while lacking the smoothness of the Bangay line of last year, are about as dangerous in close and are better checkers. The second line, led by Skippy Northcote is classy too, while, when all the forces are out, a third line equally as good is available. That's the finest all-around collection of forwards we have seen in the league in recent years.

Jimmy Young may not have been good enough for Native Sons but Bobby Lynn, who was exchanged for him, isn't a bit better. Young incidentally is a former team-mate of Owen Johnston and sought a trial two years ago with Aurora Tigers but was passed up. Technically, it is doubtful if the rules were strictly adhered to if Young can play for Markham, as he has already played Junior A hockey this year for the Sons. There's a ruling, too, about signing two certificates in one year, but we suppose that hewing straight to the line is something the O.H.A. won't do this year, with so few clubs available for the boys to play with. Last reports we had, brother Murray Scruton was taking up the question of Young's eligibility with Secretary W. A. Hewitt on behalf of his Etobicoke hopefuls, as he put it "a group governor." Roadway, the deaf and dumb goalie who was sub-goalie last year and has done about everything asked of him this year, is the sub-goalie and not getting a break.

Red Storey, the Barrie three-star athlete who has a habit of changing clubs frequently, especially in hockey and who left Argos before the rugby finals last fall, has jumped the Riverdale club with whom Gar Preston is associated and is now in the American Soo. Coach Jess Spring and "Chuck" Good also left the Skeeters at the same time. Preston is still there.

Phil Watson of New York Rangers, who at last accounts was well up with the leading scorers, has come up with the following note: "I may not be an angel but I have a marvelous pair of wings." Slapale Maste Rosenbloom, former light heavyweight champion, now a Hollywood restaurant proprietor and movie comedian, has also emitted a doozer. Seems as how his press agent told him about a man who never looked at a girl, smoked a cigarette, nor took a drink and lived to be 100. "Mule," said Maste, "he didn't live that long. It may be corny but at least it's true."

Bill Thoms, the pride of Newmarket, is among the first four or five scorers in the big league this season, which is pretty near a record, we should think, after ten years of service has qualified him for the veterans' class. Thoms has always played at centre ice until this year. Humber Summit, the summer suburb of Woodbridge, has entered the Northon-Bolton rural loop and to date have scored two wins. They replace Bolton, who have dropped out, and have trounced both Kleinberg and Islington.

Gordon Diplock, West Toronto

Marlboro seniors, has joined Sutton Greenshirts in their current campaign, which has bogged down considerably the past few weeks. He is the 19th player to be used by the Lake Simcoe boys. Whoever thought they were short of playing material at the start of the season missed the boat. They will need all the experienced playing material available, as the northern teams have all improved to the extent that even Collingwood doesn't feel very sure about beating the others now. However, the shipbuilders will not figure in the group play-offs so long as they finish first, then they will be classed as senior B. Probably just as well too.

Red Garner of Richvale, who is with the R.C.A., made a nice showing at Kingston last week, even though he didn't win a title. Garner won two heats but was K.O'd by the ultimate winner in the semi-finals of the lightweight class. According to all accounts he was long on the old mule but short on condition.

John Rowswell of Thornhill, one of Ontario's finest golfers and North York's best sportsman, came to a tragic end on Sunday as his own gun exploded while he was hunting and he was killed almost instantly. It was in 1937 he hit the headliners eliminating Jack Nash, Jim Zochek and others in the provincial amateur and almost took the measure of the famous Sandy Somerville at the age of 19. He never quite reached that peak again but he was consistently good and modest too in his achievements. He came by his golf ability honestly, for his father is greenkeeper at the Thornhill club and his aunt the famous woman golfer, Ada McKenzie. Sympathy of all sportsmen go to the family.

Aurora High Juniors set up some kind of a record, we think, for North York inter-school basketball when they hooped 55 points in regulation time against Pickering Juniors. No one in these parts can remember a bigger score in either senior or junior series or a more one-sided one either. John Rowswell, who was consistently good and modest too in his achievements. He came by his golf ability honestly, for his father is greenkeeper at the Thornhill club and his aunt the famous woman golfer, Ada McKenzie. Sympathy of all sportsmen go to the family.

Joe Tuner, maestro of the Oakville club, protested Markham using Jimmy Young, whom we mentioned earlier in this column. As we understand it, Etobicoke backed this argument. What Milton did we don't know, but we do know Aurora made no protest against Young and were prepared to play against him on Monday. Instead of Young, Alvin Roadway was in the nets and we venture to say Young couldn't have done a bit better.

Tuesday morning the writer telephoned W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., to arrange the play-off games, supposedly with Milton. Mr. Hewitt advised us that Markham had been ordered not to play Young and while he didn't say so, it seems as if all games against Markham by clubs who played against Young were tossed out. This would not change either the position of Etobicoke or Aurora, but did make a difference to Milton, Markham and Oakville.

The group has been ordered to reconvene and play round-robin play-off series with all five teams in the play-off series. Oakville, who haven't as yet won a game on their merits, are given a new lease of life, while Markham, except for losing Young, have not been punished to any extent for doing wrong. If their conduct could be considered, whether or not the group teams will abide by this ruling remains to be seen.

A series as tentatively suggested will take four weeks, without a final group play-off, with the added difficulty that the securing of rinks is difficult for at least two of the clubs and Oakville is notorious for poor ice and generally a lack of it, too. The local club has had no part in the whole affair and Aurora fans are up in arms about the whole thing. We know that the games from now on will be very tense and unless we miss our guess much hard feeling may result. The decision was reached to reconvene the group, not by Secretary Hewitt again, but after conference with Past President George Dudley and President Ross Clements.

Harold Capra, who got the winning goal on Monday, heads the list of Aurora snipers, with 19 points, ten assists and nine goals, which is a pretty unusual way to have your points, and speaks of real team spirit. The lad who was given the cold shoulder by Etobicoke last year is dying to get another crack at his former mates before it's all over.

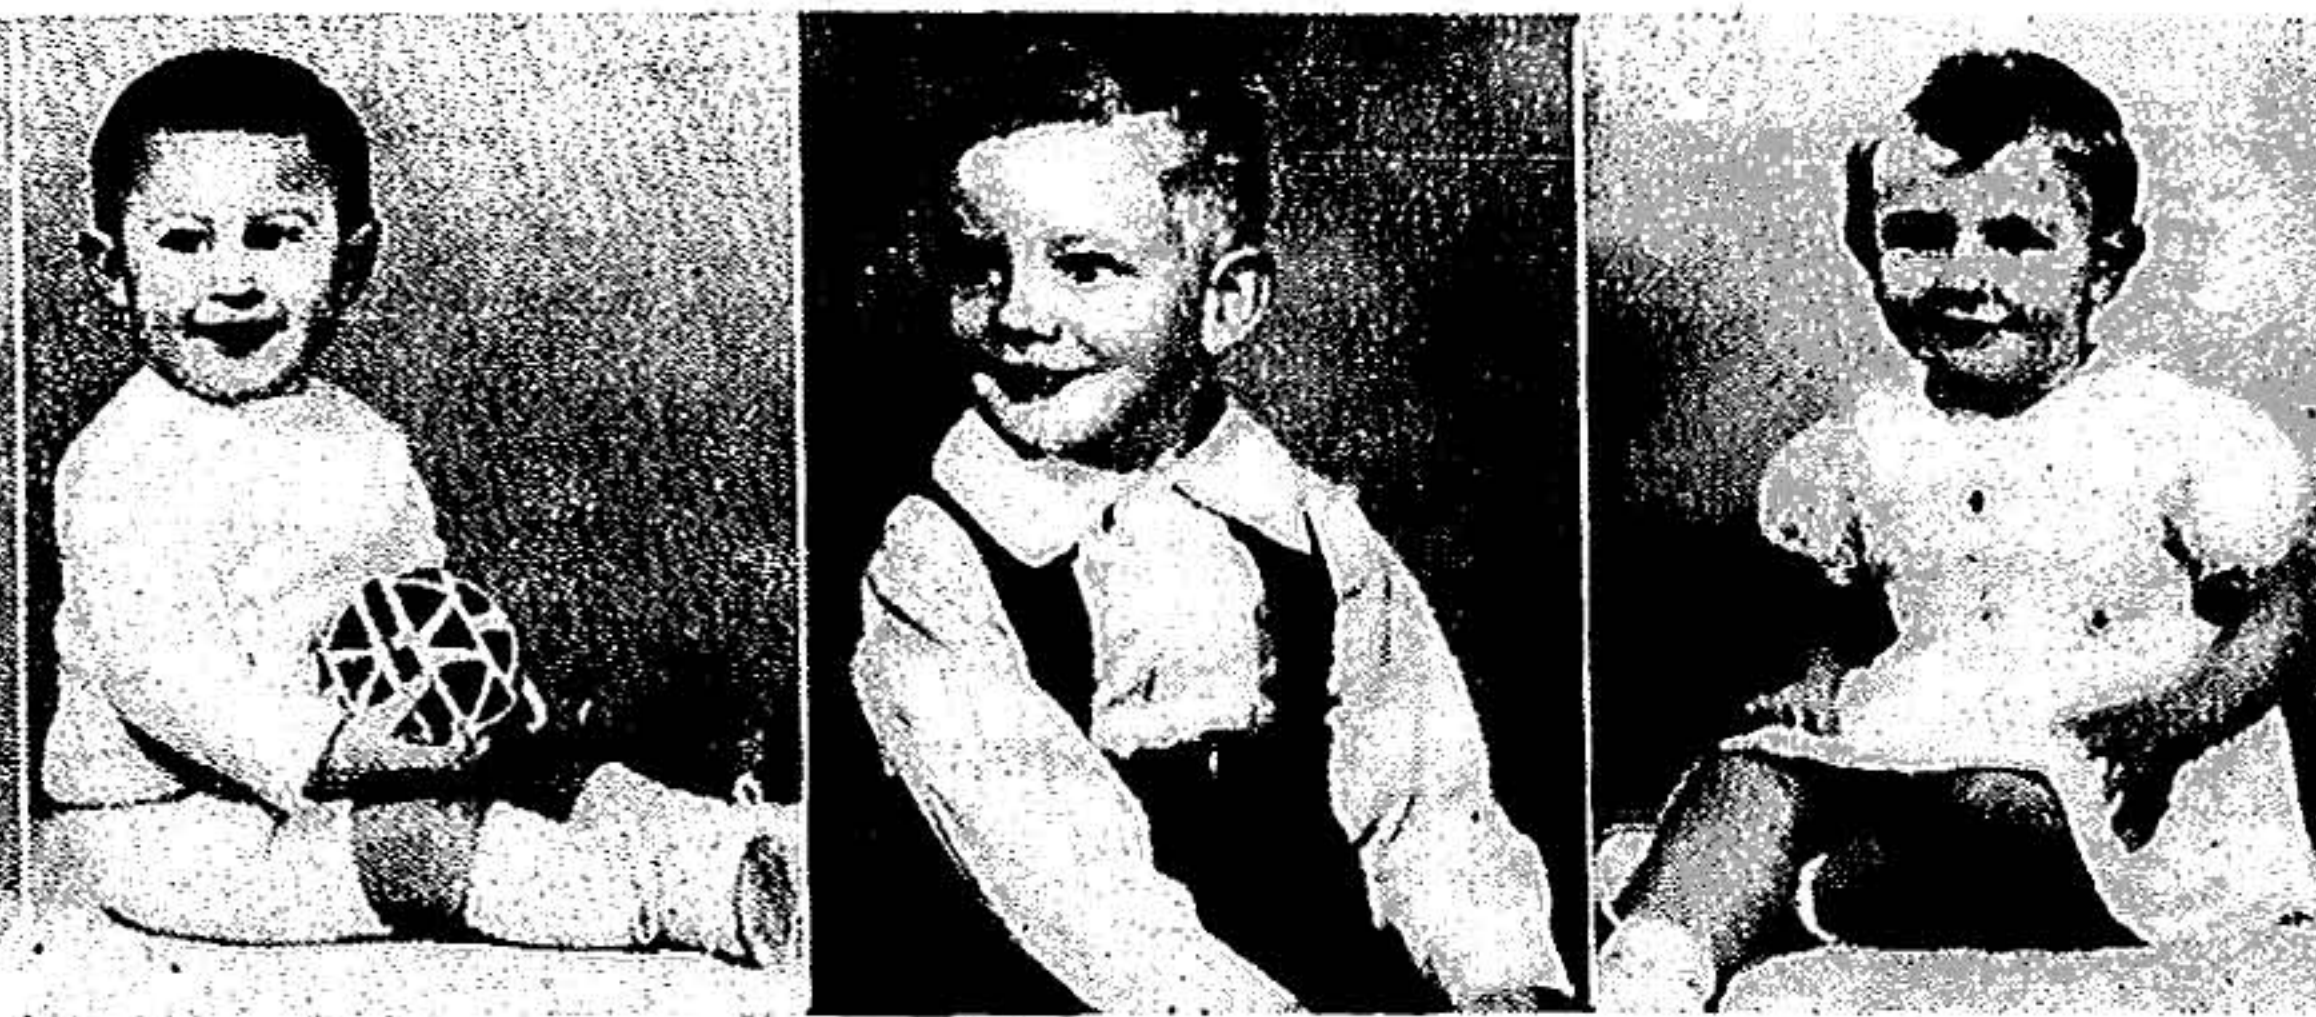

Del Beaumont is runner-up. The dark-haired boy has 17 points. He is in line in goal with 13 and his six assists. The change in his play revived him again and after three scoreless games he has come through with five counters in two games. George Stark has 14 points, Eric Bilbrough 11, and from then on it reads, Myles MacInnis and Bruce Stephens eight apiece, Capt. Ross Turnbull seven and Mervyn Broughton seven. Joe Turnbull has two points and Ken, Nash one.

Reg. Singleton, not counting the score of his club's games against Milton, which we don't know now, has amassed 21 scoring points, which should once and for all give him the group's scoring honors. Pesky Wetherill and Ronnie Rowe are the Markham leading scorers. Carter tops the Milton Brickmen and Bridgeman the last-place Oak-

PINE ORCHARD YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD SKATING PARTIES

The show by Victor Higgins has been cancelled until a later date.

The young people of the Church of Christ held a skating party on Wednesday evening on Lundy's flats. Refreshments were served afterwards at the home of Ruth Armitage.

There is a good crop of ice this season on Lundy's pond.

Harry Clegg had an accident while working in the bush. All his friends wish him a speedy recovery.

The ladies of the Union church and Women's Institute held a very successful sale of home baking at the market building in Newmarket last Friday. The ladies were very grateful to those who donated baking and to those who came to buy. The proceeds were for war work.

The members of the Women's Institute are reminded to prepare two six-inch knitted squares (any color) to be made into comforters for bomb victims. These may be handed in at the February Institute meeting.

It is a sure sign of spring when the seed catalogues begin to come in. But have the farmers and vegetable growers compared the 1942 prices with those of 1941? If not, a great surprise is in store.

ville club.

Mervyn Broughton has picked up six scoring points in the last two games. We were a game late in our predictions about the lad's scoring abilities, but they all help whenever they get them. Oakville had a nasty clip on the head at Markham but didn't back up an inch. It still pointed in the Markham game, too.

Myles MacInnis, his buddy, is another lad who has really been making his moves count lately, and if he keeps up his fine work will be one of the top junior defencemen in Junior C.

Ken, Nash, who has only been used a few times all season, turned in a whole of a game, getting a goal too. Nash, while small, can play defence better than some so-called defence players. It is a good sign when a reserve player can step in and play such a handy game.

Baker Thompson, remember, is still good as a goal. Al. Banks, who played hardball with Newmarket camp and also hockey with Kleinberg, is now stationed at Camp Borden, and has taken time off to play for his home village in the O.R.I.A. series.

Vandorf

The committee appointed to raise money for the B.W.V.F. is putting on a concert in the Vandorf hall on Wednesday, Feb. 25. Along with other talent a good program will be put on by the entertainment group of the Newmarket training camp.

The committee intends making a canvass for donations for the fund. When called on, all are asked to be as liberal as possible.

Eversley

Eversley church held its annual meeting on Thursday evening of last week. D. M. Ross was chairman. Reports of the different organizations were given. The W.A. had a good year. The W.M.S. had met their allocation and sent valuable bales for the W.M.S. to Evangel Hall, and sent away seven ditty bags. The Sunday-school, Young People's and mission band reported. The band reported cash of $10 and a bale valued at $13.00. Miss Jessie Gellatly continues to be secretary-treasurer.

Those who attended the prayer and Bible study meeting had a time of blessing as they entered into the discussion and study of God's word. The pastor has been taking up the Sunday-school lessons and much interest has been shown.

A prayer room has been built in the basement where the prayer meetings will be held from now on.

Bram. Reid was the speaker at the Sunday evening service and gave a very instructive message on the subject, "What is man?"

The month of February came in very cold and stormy after the mild January. Roads were badly drifted in places.

Snow Comes At Last, Farmers Can Get Busy

A special service was held at the United church last Sunday afternoon. It was the dedication of office-holders in the church and Sunday-school for 1942.

The Y.P.U. were invited to the manse at Keswick last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Ralph Holborn was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Jack Bosworth gave the topic on the subject, "The Call of God."

After the meeting a social time was spent in games and Biblical questions. Sixteen members were present and a very enjoyable time was spent. The group were grateful to Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Lapp for their kind hospitality.

Rev. George Bache and Ruth spent a few days last week with Mr. Bache's sisters, Miss Ina Bache returning with them for a few days at Frankford.

Skating is the order of the day just now and the young people are having a great time.

The weather has changed very quickly. There was a good fall of snow and on Monday morning it was 14 below zero.

At last there is sleighing and the farmers are very pleased. Now the wood and ice will be drawn up in a hurry. It was delayed by the lack of snow all through January. This was quite a difference from last winter, when there was plenty of snow.

While cutting wood in the bush last week the correspondent noticed poplar trees in bud. Jack McClure was home for the weekend.

"In your opinion, who are the three greatest sailors in British history?" an admiral who was conducting an examination for the navy asked one of the candidates.

The reply came pat. "I'm sorry sir, I didn't catch your name when I entered the room, but the other two are Nelson and Drake."

"Step on It!"

IF THERE ever was a year to start good chicks early, 1942 is it! Starting good chicks good and early is good policy any year. This year it's better policy than ever. Eggs have become a munition of war. These huge British orders at known-in-advance prices, plus the government subsidy of 3c per dozen on Grade A-Large for export, have fixed a floor under egg prices, away above last year's levels. And poultry meat is in strong demand.

Quick Income!

If you have the brooder accommodation, you can make yourself some useful extra income, fast, by putting in some fast-growing Bray cockerel chicks. Check up on broiler prices. Do a little figuring. Then ask about Bray cockerel price.

If you haven't already received your Bray catalogue, it's yours for the asking. If you have received it, be sure to read it carefully. . . there's a lot of real "meat" in it. But don't delay—not today. The days are sliding by, and this is the year to start Bray Chicks early!

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

People who are off colour say they're liverish or their liver is bad! Do you know how serious this is—that it may lead to permanent ill health—your whole system poisoned and broken down? Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your liver lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—your vitality disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestine. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from liver poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headache, backache, dizziness, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from their misery with "Improved Fruit-Active Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today improved Fruit-Active Liver Tablets are Canada's best-selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-Active" take you back on the road to lasting health—like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"Constantly in Pain, Now a New Woman!"
For a long time I felt very miserable with liver trouble and constipation. I had tried everything but could not get better. I had heard of Fruit-Active Liver Tablets and I bought a box. I started taking them and I felt better. After taking only one box, the awful headache was gone, constipation left me and I felt like a new woman.

"Suffered For Years, Now Feel Great!"
I was always irritable, tired, headache, backache, dizziness, I could not get on my feet. I had tried many medicines but nothing helped. I had heard of Fruit-Active Liver Tablets and I bought a box. I started taking them and I felt better. After taking only one box, the awful headache was gone, constipation left me and I felt like a new woman.

More and More Canadians are Buying This Security

Standing as a mighty bulwark of home defence, life insurance is bringing security—freedom—peace-of-mind—to more and more Canadians . . . They know that, in the past 100 years, life insurance has weathered every storm of war, panic and epidemic—and has honored every obligation . . . They know, too, that life insurance helps to keep homes intact—to care for families bereft of their breadwinners—to educate children so they have a fair chance in life—and to bring financial security to those whose earning days are over . . . And they know that their savings in life insurance are doing double duty in helping to finance Canada's all-out war effort.

like good evidence of the healthful living conditions in this neighborhood.

There will be a play entitled "Jimmy be Careful" given in the hall on Monday, Feb. 16. The proceeds are to help the hall board. This play is well recomtainers. Fruit jar tops are also valuable metal.

The salvage will be gathered in the village next Saturday his pony and sleigh, with other side the village kindly leave contributions at the barn behind the telephone office as soon as

BIRTHS ARE MANY BUT MANY BABIES MOVE AWAY

Newmarket in 1941, N. L. Mathews, K.C., registrar of vital statistics, reported to the town council on Monday evening. All births at York county hospital are credited to Newmarket, so that the natural increase in population is not as great as it might otherwise seem.

Offer Accepted

To the very end Artemus Ward never forgot that he was a humorist. His doctor offered him some medicine to relieve him in his final moments, but he refused to take it.

"Do take it," begged the playwright, Tom Robertson, "for my sake. There is nothing I would not do for yours."

"Do you mean that?" murmured Ward.

"Absolutely!" said Robertson.
"Then," said the dying humorist, "you take it."

In a hockey game against Gravenhurst in Sutton on Monday evening, the two teams battled to a 6-all overtime tie. The Sutton team is now in a first place tie with Midland.

In the first period, Gravenhurst scored two quick goals, Scott from Barnes and Sykes from Wich-man. At the 16-minute mark, Gravenhurst got their third goal when Wichman scored from McNeil and James. Roberts scored Sutton's first goal on a pass from McComb in the dying minutes of the period.

Pioneer King Township Farmer Dies At 92

Archibald Kelly, 92-year-old King township farmer, died at York county hospital on Sunday.

The last survivor of a family of six children, Mr. Kelly was the son of King township pioneer settlers, who walked to King township from Toronto in 1832. They spent the first night in a cabin they built for themselves of logs and pine boards, near a lake which now bears the name of the Kelly family.

Both Mr. Kelly's parents lived to be over 80 years of age and two of his brothers were over 70.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Strathroy. Interment was made in King City cemetery.

Will Give 2-Day Farm Management Course

A two-day short course in farm management has been arranged for York county by Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn of Newmarket. This is being held in the municipal hall, Richmond, Feb. 17 and 18.

H. R. Hare, B.S.A., of the economics division, department of agriculture, Ottawa, is well qualified to conduct such a course and draws large crowds wherever he goes. He will lead the larger part of the discussion and lecture work and will be assisted by a York county man, R. M. Miller, B.S.A., of Markham. Mr. Miller has recently completed a course in farm management at Cornell University in New York state.

The following is the program (all times are D.S.T.): first day, 10 a.m., "The Farm Business in War Time," H. R. Hare; 11 a.m., "A Review of Successful Farm Business," R. M. Miller; 1:30 p.m., "The Basic Factors of Farming Success," H. R. Hare; 2:45 p.m., "Five Factor Farming Demonstrated," R. M. Miller; second day, 10 a.m., "Costs, Prices and Farm Practice," H. R. Hare; 10:40 a.m., "Recent Developments in Farm Management," R. M. Miller; 11:20 a.m., "The Farm Business Turnover," H. R. Hare; 1:30 p.m., "Recording the Farm Business," R. M. Miller; 2:30 p.m., "A Plan for Next Year's Farm Business," H. R. Hare.

There will be a discussion and summary by the agricultural representative.

Mr. Cockburn wishes to stress that those who attend the first day should try to be present the second day also to get the most out of the courses; also that this should be an excellent follow-up for those dairy farmers who kept cost records on milk production under the supervision of Mr. Hare a few years ago.

COUNCILLORS WILL RECEIVE

Dales. "I am not going to be mayor for more than this year at most, so that I don't think anyone will impute selfish motives. I think it is up to someone to have the political courage to introduce this change. I am therefore happy to introduce this by-law. It will apply from Jan. 1, 1942."

Dr. Dales called on Mr. Matthews to explain the by-law.

"I have gone into it quite carefully," said Mr. Matthews. "The Municipal Act authorizes an unstated amount to be paid to the mayor. Members of the council can be paid, in a place the size of Newmarket, an amount not exceeding $5 a day. You can't fix a yearly sum. It must depend on the number of meetings. I put in a limit of $125 because there are probably 20 meetings, with perhaps as many as five special meetings, and, without casting aspersions on the council, if you didn't put in a limit you would be open to criticism every time you held a special meeting."

"It applies only to meetings in this room?" inquired Councillor A. D. Evans.

"Yes, there is no provision in the act for committee meetings," said Mr. Matthews.

"I feel that the mayor in a town of this size should be paid at least $300," said Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale. "The water and light chairman should be paid $250, the road and bridge chairman $200 or $175 and the rest of the council $125. While I am a very great friend of all these gentlemen, I don't think the council should be paid this year. It should not be done without being an issue in an election so that the people have a chance to pass on it."

"If we intend to pay councillors, we should reduce the size of the council. The deputy-revee could be abolished. It will be abolished anyway. A council of five could manage the town's affairs."

"But the statutes fix the number of members," said Mr. Matthews.

"Yes, but that's an obstacle to paying the council," Mr. Vale said.

"We shouldn't do it in wartime," Mr. Vale continued. "We served in peace-time without remuneration. There are other bodies, public school and high school boards, serving the public. So I think the matter should be laid over for another night."

"I believe that the public should have a chance to pass on it," said Reeve Fred A. Landy. "Someone suggested a plebiscite on the question. I don't think that a good plan. It would be defeated. During the war each has its job. I believe each should be willing to do what he can without remuneration. After the war this should be done. I believe that Mr. Evans and Mr. Bowser should be paid a little bit extra but not now."

"Some years ago I applied $500 for the mayor and $50 for the councillors," said Councillor Wm. Dixon. "It was too big a difference. I was disgusted with the lack of interest in nomination night. I believe this might interest the public and get people out to run for the council."

"Some larger municipalities, where the council are paid, have more interest in their nomination meetings," said Reeve Landy.

"I don't think I would be justified in supporting this by-law," said Councillor Frank Bowser. "I had no thought of return when I ran for council. The year when the camp came I spent $100 for gasoline running about town, but I got over it. If the by-law passes, I'll don't every cent to war charity."

"I believe every intelligent citizen in town realizes all that the councillors do," said Councillor J. L. Spillette. "I am not asking for money. I believe that the chairman and the mayor should get paid. I believe that the public would be well pleased to have the mayor, chairman and councillors paid."

The chairman of committee, A. V. Higginson, said he would spend a lot of time on town business.

"It will make the people look up to the councillors a little more if they are paid," said Councillor A. V. Higginson. "It might wake the public up a little."

"I said at the nomination meeting that if this were brought up I'd vote for it," said Councillor A. D. Evans. "The public would vote it down if it were put to them. I can't see putting it to the ratepayers. They would turn it down. I am going to vote for it, not for myself but for the next fellow."

"I think that the work of this council is just as valuable as the work of Whitechurch and other councils that are paid," Mr. Matthews said.

"This might make better attendance at council meetings," said Dr. Dales. "I'll feel freer to call on you more, and perhaps we'll just give the town a little better service."

"We are going to have a lot of parades and things this year and we're going to be called on a lot," said Dr. Dales. "No intelligent citizen would object to this. Why should you be asked to leave your business and your country for nothing?"

"If anyone wants to take any political advantage of this, go ahead. I have no political ambitions. I am through at the end of the year. We don't need to take money. We can buy Victory bonds. I'll put mine into Victory bonds."

"I don't think it is a fair thing to put before the people," said Mr. Matthews. "I don't think anyone would vote to get something for nothing. Two members of the council get paid as members of the county council. There is no reason why they shouldn't be paid and the rest of you be paid as town councillors."

"This council is too large to be paid," said Mr. Matthews. "The council should consist of three, deputy-revee, and three councillors. It would cost half a mill to pay this council."

"I don't approve," said Mr. Matthews.

"I don't approve," said Mr. Matthews.

"I don't think it is a fair thing to put before the people," said Mr. Matthews. "I don't think anyone would vote to get something for nothing. Two members of the council get paid as members of the county council. There is no reason why they shouldn't be paid and the rest of you be paid as town councillors."

"This council is too large to be paid," said Mr. Matthews. "The council should consist of three, deputy-revee, and three councillors. It would cost half a mill to pay this council."

"I don't approve," said Mr. Matthews.

PICKERING TEAMS LOSE TO AURORANS

Pickering College senior and junior basketball teams were defeated last Thursday on their home grounds by Aurora high school seniors and juniors. These games tied the senior series and gave Aurora the lead in the junior series.

Following last week's win in Aurora Pickering seniors were not favorites to win on their own floor, but Coach Norm Johnson's charges had practised hard and with Bill Griffith moved back from centre to the defence to check Des. Partridge, the Pickering ace.

Aurora were never headed from the start, winning the game 27-13. Partridge, who last time out potted 22 points, at home only amassed eight points. Hughes and Griffith featured the Aurora play.

The Aurora juniors set a terrific pace to beat a smaller and less experienced Pickering squad 55-9. The game was a complete rout for Aurora, but many of the grey and blue were guest players, getting their first chance at the indoor game.
